

‘THE BLACK WATCH’ 42nd Foot

Motto

Nemo Me impune Lacessit

No One Provokes me with Impunity

Raised in 1739, and originally numbered the 43rd Regiment, the 42nd Foot is the oldest of the Highland Regiments

The Sombre appearance of its famous tartan and its original role of policing the Highlands led to it being called ‘The Black Watch’.

The unit wears the uniform of the period 1812 - 1815 and the authenticity is as near possible from the records of the day.

The Napoleonic Association

The Napoleonic Association remains true to its original objective of supporting people with a common interest in the history of the period from the French Revolution through to the Battle of Waterloo.

Whether you study costume, are fascinated by the social history of this ‘Age of Elegance’ perhaps research the military history of the campaigns of Moore, Wellington and Napoleon, take the Kings shilling or follow the Eagle - participating in re-enactments of the camp life and battles of the period, both for real and in miniature, - The Napoleonic Association has a great deal to offer.

Membership is by annual subscription with a special rate for families, for this you will receive insurance whilst at an event and an Association Newsletter approximately 4 times a year.
